ECLIPSES IN THE YEAR 1864.

There will be but two Eclipses, both of the Sun; but neither will be visible in the Confederate States, except in Western Texas, where both will be very partially visible.

The first will be a total Eclipse on the 5th of May, beginning on the Earth, at 4h. 11m. P. M., and ending at 9h. 53m. Charleston time.

The second will be an annular Eclipse, on the 30th of October, beginning on the Earth at 7h. 12m. A. M.; and ending at 1h. 10m. P. M.

ASPECTS OF THE PLANETS.

MORNING AND EVENING STARS

Venus will be Morning Star until July 21st; after that date Evening Star the rest of the year.  Venus sets heliacally about the 5th April, and rises again, heliacally, about the 5th of October; so that, between these dates it will not be visible morning or evening.

Mars will rise at sunset on the 28th November, and for the rest of the year will be seen above the horizon after sunset.

Jupiter will rise at sunset on the 11th May, and will be seen nearer the Sun after sunset, until the 27th of November, when it sets with the Sun. It sets, heliacally, that is will not be visible from proximity to the Sun, about the 3d of November.

Saturn rises at sunset on the 3d of April.

The most favorable time for seeing Mercury will be a few days about the 29th of April, when it will set a sufficient time after the Sun to be visible, if the weather is clear.

EXPLANATIONS.

From the impossibility owing to the blockade, of procuring the usual aids in calculation, such as are found in the English Nautical Almanac, the calculations for this Almanac have been made at great trouble, from the original Solar and Lunar Tables; but it is hoped they will be found as correct as usual.

This Almanac is all in MEAN Time, as it is called. This is the time that a perfect clock, accurately set, and running throughout the year would show; there is no difficulty in using such an Almanac.

SUN'S RISING, &c.—This Almanac shows the time of rising and setting of the Sun's upper limb, corrected for refraction; that is, it shows the time when the first and last rays are visible.

MOON'S RISING, &c.—The time of rising and setting of the Moon, if it occur in the day time, is not given; when, therefore, the time of her rising is given, understand that she sets sometime during the following day light; and, when the time of her setting is given, that she rises sometime during the preceding day light.

TIDES.—In computing the time of High Water, for Charleston Harbour, the "Observations," published in the "United States Survey," have been used as data. The time of but one of the daily Tides is given, viz. of the one which immediately succeeds the Meridian passage of the Moon.

STARS and PLANETS.—As a Star rises, souths and sets about four minutes sooner every day, it will be easy to find the time of rising, southing and setting of a Star, at dates following or preceding those given in the Almanac. The same rule will apply to the Planets Jupiter, Saturn and Mars, with sufficient accuracy for common purposes.

TO KNOW WHERE THE SIGN IS.—First find the day of the month, and against it, in the 7th column, stands the sign the moon is in; then finding the sign here, it shows the part of the body it is supposed to govern.

MEAN TIME AND APPARENT TIME.

It is usual to append an explanation of the different kinds of Time; but the subject cannot be well understood without a good knowledge of Astronomy. We may thus give a general notion of the subject.

The natural days are not of the same length, though nearly so. A natural day is the time it takes the Sun to move, apparently, from any given point in the heavens back to the same point—as from noon to noon. The maximum deviation of the natural day from its average or mean length, is only about half a minute; but when the shorter or longer natural days come together, as they do, for several months together, the aggregate deviation from the same number of mean or average days amounts to about fifteen minutes. In a year we have a perfect circle of natural days, that is, in this time, they have undergone all possible changes, and they start the same round of change the next year, being first shorter for several months, then longer, &c. Now the mean or average length of all the natural days in the year is a mean day, the 24th part of such a day a mean hour, the 60th part of such an hour, a mean minute, and so on.

A time piece, running uniformly, and time pieces could not be constructed to run otherwise, is intended to measure off mean days, hours, &c. This being so, from what has been stated as to the natural days, measured off by the Sun, it will be seen why it is, that when the Sun is at noon, the clock will very seldom show 12 o'clock, and is sometimes as much as 15' before 12, and at other times 15 minutes after 12. Time as it appears to be, from the place of the Sun, is called apparent time; but true mean time, that is time measured off by a fixed invariable standard, (which is the mean day) differs, as we have seen, at the maximum, as much as 15 minutes from apparent time. The Table at the head of each page exemplifies this.

HOW TO SET A TIME PIECE.

1st Method.—When the first rays of the rising Sun, or the last of the setting Sun, are seen, set the clock to the time given for the rising or setting on the given day. This method is not very accurate, unless the horizon is clear of objects.

2d Method.—Those who have a dial or Noon mark, should proceed thus;—when the shadow of the Sun falls at the noon mark, set the clock to the time given in the Almanac, at the head of each month, "Sun on Meridian." This gives the time, by the clock to within half a minute, when the shadow falls on the noon mark.

It is not an easy matter to set a time-piece with full accuracy, without a noon mark; and such a mark every one has not the means of readily making.

ANNEXED IS A TABLE

Showing the Parashoth (portions of the Pentateuch.) which are read in the Synagogue on the Saturdays during this year. When Festivals, however, fall on a Saturday, the regular Parasha is not read, but the appropriate portion for that particular Feast.

I. JANUARY, begins on Friday, hath 31 days. 1864.

Sow peas, spinach, lettuce, cabbages, radishes, parsley, beets, carrots, salsify, parsnips, turnips, asparagus. Plant horse radish, Irish Potatoes. Transplant cabbages and lettuce. REMARKS.—The best variety of peas for this month, are the early frame and Bishops, for an early crop, and draw marrow-fat and draw green imperial for a succession. The lettuces, cabbages and radishes should be protected, the last may be sown between rows of carrots, or spinach. Celery earthed. Endive tied up Dress artichoke and asparagus beds.

II. FEBRUARY, begins Monday, hath 29 days. 1864.

Sow peas, spinach, luttuce, cabbage, radish, corn, beets, carrots, salsaly, parsnips, turnips, thyme, sage and other herbs. Plant Irish potatoes. Transplant cabbages and luttuces. REMARKS — The same varieties of peas may be sown in this month, as were directed for the last. The principle crop of beets and carrots should now be sown. The common varieties of spinach should be sown in small quantities once in ten days, as it soon runs to seed.

VIII. AUGUST, begins on Monday, 31 days. 1864.

Sow peas, early Dutch and other varieties of turnips, ruta бага, onions, cabbages, cauliflowers, brocoli, black Spanish radishes, radishes, carrots, beets, parsnips, salsify, lettuce and endive. Plant snapbeans. Transplant cabbages, cauliflowers, brocoli, celery, ruta бага and endive. REMARKS.—Not much can be expected from peassown in this month, as they will be very much crippled by the high winds and rain. The beets and spinach are liable to the attacks of the worms, which destroy their leaves, they may be very fine.

IX. SEPTEMBER, begins Thursday, hath 30 days. 1864.

Sow early Dutch and other varieties of turnips? ruta бага, beets, Swiss chard, mangle wurtzles, carrots, parsnips, salsafy, luttuce, spinach, cabbages, (English seed.) onions, radishes, endive. Plant snap-beans. Transplant ruta bagas, cabbages, cauliflowers, breechi, celery, luttuce, leeks, endive.

REMARKS — In this month, the principal crops of turnips, beets, carrots, parsnips, &c., should be sown, as they will acquire sufficient strength to withstand the cold weather before the winter sets in. When thinning out the ruta бага, the plants should be reserved and transplanted out into these spaces, where they have failed.

XII. DECEMBER, begins Thursday, hath 31 days. 1864

Sow peas, spinach, radishes, carrots, salsify, lettuce, cabbages, beets, pa snips. Plant Irish potatoes, mazagon and windsor beans. Transplant cabbages, lettuce and onions. REMARKS.—Any of the varieties of peas may be sown in this month. The Irish potatoes will come up so early as to have their tops destroyed by frosts, but they will not be injured materially, if at all, by this. All seed sown during this month, except spinach, peas and beans, must be protected during the cold weather.

REGENTS—Andrew Wallace, Esq, President; James U Adams, Thos B.
Clayton, W H Scarborough, M Laborde, M. D., Rev J L Reynolds, Chs.
Pelham, Wm H Talley, William Wallace.

J W Parker, M D, Superintendent and Physician.

A A Sylvester, Assistant Physician; Rev. ———, Chaplain and Secretary; Mrs. Emily McCartea, Matron.

Requests for Admission—A Certificate from two Physicians and a Magistrate, that the applicant is insane, an epileptic, or an idiot. A concise history of the case and the medical treatment to which the patient has been subjected. The rates vary from $250 to $700 per annum, payable in half yearly instalments in advance. A bond, with approved security, living within the State, to secure the regular payment of the dues, is required. The charges for persons of color the same as paupers.

On the 5th Nov 1862, there was in the institution, 193 patients, 47 received during the year; making 240—of which number there have been cured 32; 5 removed; 15 died; leaving 188 patients—91 pay-patients, and 97 paupers—of these, 86 were males, 102 females.

Asylum for the Deaf & Dumb, and Blind.

The 14th Report of this benevolent institution was made at the last session of the Legislature of South-Carolina by the Commissioners, from which it appears there has been a new and commodious building erected at Cedar Spring, Chester District, for the purpose of fulfilling the original design.

The chief instructors of the Deaf and Dumb are Professor J M Hughston, [a mute] and Miss S J Walker.

For the department of the Blind, Professor J S Henderson (blind), and Mrs L C W Henderson are instructors.

There other departments for teaching boot making, cabinet work and broom making. There are 14 deaf and dumb, and 15 blind pupils in the institution. The success which has marked and attended the noble efforts of the philanthropists who have devised and perfected the means of education for the unfortunate victims of deprivation or loss of senses, is well illustrated in this institution, and has gone far beyond the margin of doubt or experiment. The location is in a healthy part of the State, and easily reached by railroad: Any further information may be obtained from either of the Commissioners, or the Superintendent, J S HENDERSON, at Cedar Spring, Chester, S C. Hon T N DAWKINS, Commissioner, at Union C H, or Hon HENRY D LEXSEN, Commissioner, Charleston.

Members of the Legislature of South-Carolina.

Meets annually on the 4th Monday in November.

W. D. Porter, President of the Senate—Win F. Martin, Clerk.
A. P. Aldrich, Speaker of House of Rep.—J. T. Sloan, Clerk.

A FEW WORDS OF ADVICE.

The hand and the hoe are the instruments for erradicating weeds—yet if there is room between the rows for the spade it is well to use it. Weeds exhaust the strength of the ground, and if suffered to grow may be called garden sins.

Often breaking up of the surface of your ground keeps the soil in health; for when it lies in a hard-bound state, enriching showers run off, and the salubrious air cannot enter.

It will not do to hoe a great field for a little crop, nor to mow 20 acres for five loads of hay. Enrich the land and it will pay you.

Never keep your cattle short. If you starve them they will starve you. Drive your business before you and it will go easily.

In dry pastures dig for water on the brow of the hill: springs are more frequently near the surface on a high than in a vale.

Never plough in bad weather, or when the ground is very wet.

It is better to cut grain just before it is fully or dead ripe. When the straw immediately below the grain is so dry that on twisting it no juice is expressed, it should be cut, for then there is no further circulation of juices to the ear. Every hour it stands uncut after this stage is attended with loss. Good fences make good neighbours.

Accounts should be kept, detailing the expense and produce of each field. Keep notes of all remarkable occurrences on your farm. Recording even your errors will be of benefit.

Experiments are highly commendable, but do not become an habitual experimenter.

The depredations of birds are fully compensated by the services they render in preying upon insects.

Avoid a low and damp site for a dwelling house. Build sufficiently distant from your barn and stock-yard to avoid accidents by fire.

Do not erect an expensive house, nor a spacious barn, until you have something to store in it.

Extracts from Poor Richard.

Take this remark from Richard poor and lame,
What'er's begun in anger ends in shame.

Some men grow mad by studying much to know,
But who grows mad by studying good to grow?

If pride leads the van, beggary brings up the rear.

He that would live at peace and at ease,
Must not speak all he knows, nor judge all he sees.

He that can travel well afoot keeps a good horse.

Against diseases here the strongest fence,
Is the defensive virtue Abstinence.

Nothing humbler than Ambition when it is about to climb.

The discontented man finds no easy chair.

When prosperity was well mounted, she lets go the bridle, and soon comes tumbling out of the saddle.

The master's eye will do more work than both his hands.

A change of fortune hurts a wise man no more than a change of the moon.

He that has a trade has an office of profit and honor.

A false friend and a shadow attend only when the Sun shines.

The favor of the great is no inheritance.
